Phyllis Harley was born and raised in Kissimmee, Florida. She left the state to attend West Virginia Wesleyan College in Buckhannon, West Virginia on academic and athletic scholarships. After graduation from WVWC in 1998 with a Bachelors of Arts (Honors) Cum Laude in English Literature and a minor in Political Science, Phyllis worked for a short while for the City of Orlando and the Osceola County School Board. She then began her studies in law at Barry University Dwayne O. Andreas School of Law in Orlando, Florida. She graduated from Barry University with a Juris Doctor in 2007. Phyllis focuses her legal experience in the areas of real property and probate in her own practice, Harley Law Offices, P.A., which she opened in 2007.
